Jan Jaeken – Voorzitter Flux50

A high-angle photograph of a large symphony orchestra performing in a concert hall. The musicians are seated in a semi-circle, facing a conductor on the right. The orchestra includes various instruments such as brass, woodwinds, strings, and a percussion section. The conductor is standing and gesturing towards the musicians. The hall has a wooden floor and a large, curved wall in the background.

Flux₅₀ orchestrates and facilitates the realisation of a smart energy region, aiming to create economical value for Flemish companies.
